Dr. John C. Albohm, York, Delivers Address Friday At Dedication Of New School

With a pledge to educate people in the heritage of freedom and to keep the door of educational opportunity open for all children, the Gettysburg Joint School District dedicated its new half-million dollar Eisenhower Elementary School here Friday evening.

The 300-seat all purpose room in the new building was filled to capacity and the school's inter-communication system carried the 40-minute program several hundred others in classrooms and corridors.

The dedicatory address, delivered by Dr. John C. Albohm, superintendent of the York City schools, concluded with this pledge:

"We Pledge Ourselves"

"Surely as we dedicate this school to the name of Dwight D. Eisenhower, 34th president of these United States, we can say to him that we pledge ourselves to go forth and educate these people in the heritage of free men; that we will keep the door of educational opportunity open for all children; that we will improve our teaching competency; that we will redefine our curriculum and reorganize our curriculum and reorganize our educational structure; that we will improve our school financing; that we will set higher standards of achievement; that we will make better use of research and new media of communication and instruction; that we will respect the personality of children, and, with him, be ashamed to die unless we have won our victory for humanity."

Before the dedication ceremonies there was a concert by the elementary school band under the direction of Robert G. Zeigler and after the program there was an "open house."

Presentations Made

The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ. Then C. S. Buchart, representing Buchart Associates of York, architects for the building, formally presented the building to its owners, the Gettysburg School Authority. Authority Board Chairman Arthur E. Hutchison accepted for that board and presented the

2 FARM UNITS IN COUNTY TO BE STUDIED BY U.S.

The Upper Adams Young Farmers Association and the Gettysburg Battlefield Chapter of Young Farmers are two of 10 groups in the state to be studied by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in an attempt to determine the farming operations of the younger farmers of the nation and the success of their ventures.

John White and Cecil Snyder, advisors for the county association, reported selection of the group for the study at a meeting of the Young Farmers Thursday evening at Biglerville High School.

Norman Blocher, president of the association, appointed Herbert Lady, Harold Garretson and Franklin Ryman as a nominating committee to report in November at the annual "Family Night" and election of the organization.

Thomas Piper, agricultural extension marketing specialist for the Adams County area, was the speaker Thursday. He reported that a study made in New York state in 1956-57 showed the cost of growing an acre of apples was $200 and the cost of picking the apples was 40 cents per bushel. Farmers in the study who had less than 50 acres of apples had to find extra work off the farm, he said. A similar study is now being made in Pennsylvania.

New York apple growers have subscribed $320,000 to advertise their fruit, Piper said, and New England apple growers raised $100,000 by September 1 for the same purpose.

Piper said the money to be spent for advertising will be a great help in marketing their apples this year and urged the Pennsylvania fruitgrowers "to learn a lesson from these two areas."

Big Car Nudges Little One; Flees

An unidentified motorist struck the rear of a 1959 MG car at 9:30 o'clock Friday evening a half mile north of here on the Mummaburg Rd., then fled.

State police said Lynn A. Dickinson, 21, New Oxford R. 1, was certain in his report to them that the other car deliberately pushed his tiny English-make car as it crossed the railroad tracks at the foot of Oak Ridge, and then drove off.

Police said the New Oxford R. 1 man told them he had noticed a 1950 or 1951 Mercury that seemed to be following his Morris Garage vehicle for some time before the incident.

As Dickinson drove north on the Mummaburg Rd. the other car came closer. At the railroad tracks it nudged the rear of the small vehicle. Damage to the Mercury would be to the front bumper, if it suffered any damage at all, police said. Damage to the MG occurred to its rear bumper, back and left rear fender.

Area Births For Year Are Lagging

There were 97 births in the Gettysburg area last month but the total number of births for the first nine months of the year is only 816 as compared with 835 for the comparable period last year, according to Ralph Geiselman, registrar of vital statistics.

Last month's figures include 45 male and 52 female births in Gettysburg borough. In September of last year there were 98.

Last month there were 10 male and seven female deaths in Gettysburg and two male and two female deaths in Cumberland Twp. Other townships in Geiselman's area had neither births nor deaths.

So far this year there have been 180 deaths as compared with 167 in the first nine months of 1958.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR TALK BY MRS. GRANDON

The Adams County Federation of Women's Clubs met Friday for luncheon and a business meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg. Mrs. Paul E. Zeger, president of the Adams County Federation, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Robert J. Eckenrode, Littlestown, president of the Woman's Community Club, gave a report of the convention banquet and Mrs. Atlee Rebert, Littlestown, vice president of the Adams County Federation, gave a general report on the convention.

Mrs. Harold Jones, vice president of the south central district, urged club members to attend the community achievement contest. If the state has 100 per cent attendance it can win $500. It was explained that this is not the object of local participation, but rather recognition of local projects. She also requested the local clubs to consider sending candidates for state offices as well as department chairmen. She also pointed out that the board of directors had passed a resolution on the federal court decision regarding the unconstitutionality of the mandatory reading of the Bible in the schools marking its disapproval.

Mrs. Grandon Speaks

Mrs. Raymond C. Grandon, New Cumberland, chairman of the department of fine arts, spoke on "Add Luster to Living." She asked all clubs to study the booklet "Administration Program," published by the federation in order to get suggestions for fine arts programs for the year. In the literature and drama departments she said that there are contests on sonnets, short stories and plays open and that the rules can be found in "The Pennsylvania Club Woman."

Mrs. Grandon told of two contests to be conducted soon. They are the Vogue sewing contest with a trip to Paris for two and a state first prize of $100. She said, "No one loses in this contest as you have a lovely costume at the end." The other is the Hallmark art talent contest for high school seniors. Hallmark sponsors this contest and gives a $600 scholarship.

She asked the clubs to sponsor a high school senior.

Penny Art Fund

She also urged the support of the Penny Art Fund which is a fund for Pennsylvania artists. Last year over $1,100 was collected and $350 scholarships were given to art students in the three state teacher colleges.

Mrs. Herbert Blye, president of the Gettysburg Woman's Club, spoke for the Friends of the Library and requested support of the library one-mile referendum. There were representatives at the meeting from the Gettysburg and Littlestown clubs. The club adopted the budget for the coming year.

Gen. George C. Marshall, 78, Dies Friday Evening; Served Two Cabinet Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, who guided America's armed might in World War II and created the postwar Marshall Plan to safeguard free nations against communism, is dead at 78.

Marshall had been seriously ill since he suffered a stroke last Jan. 15 at his winter home in Pinehurst, N.C. He was brought to Walter Reed Army Hospital March 11. Death came to him there Friday evening.

Perhaps no man of his time had been called great by so many of his countrymen as George Catlett Marshall.

Three presidents—Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower—almost revered his awesome abilities as a soldier, statesman and diplomat.

Had Two Cabinet Posts

He led the gigantic war machine of the United States as Army chief of staff throughout World War II. Then in the evening of his

PRISONER TO BEGIN SECOND TERM WHEN HE LEAVES PRISON

Franklin Delano Sterner, Hanover, serving a two to four-year sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary on a York County charge, was told by the Adams County court this morning that he will begin a 30-day to 23-month sentence in Adams County jail as soon as he is released from the penitentiary.

Sterner was sentenced this morning on two burglary counts, one for theft of $20 in cash, six tires and two rifles from the Direct-To-You service station, Lincolnway East, and the other on burglaries, on the same night, December 6, 1958, at the Gettysburg Motors, Snack Shack, Rogers Sunoco Station and an outdoor vending machine at the Kuhn Service Station.

Bruce E. Klinefelter, Gettysburg R. D., charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors and impersonating an officer just a few days after he had been released from jail on another sentence, was given a suspended sentence, placed on probation for six months and ordered to pay $200 for the use of the county and the costs. The original charge was reduced from contributing to furnishing beer to minors.

Served Beer To Girls

Klinefelter and Robert S. Rudisill, also of Gettysburg R. D., were arrested for "picking up" three young women who had filed an institution for wayward girls. Investigation disclosed that the young men had served beer to the girls and that Klinefelter had displayed a deputy sheriff's badge. However, the district attorney said this morning, further investigation showed that the group had only driven about for some time and that the display of the badge apparently was not of a type to warrant an impersonating an officer charge. Rudisill was given a suspended sentence on payment of costs.

Gets Jail Sentence

John Burton, 22, rear of 122 Breckenridge St., was sentenced to from three to 12 months in the county jail on a statutory rape charge. He was given suspended sentences on two other charges arising out of the same incident. His attorney said Burton had believed that his wife was killed in an auto accident. When he was married in Emmitsburg to a local girl he learned that the wife was still alive. The court was told that Burton had also claimed his

Have Harvest Problem

At the same time the fast maturity is creating a difficulty in harvesting fast enough to prevent the apples from becoming too ripe.

Additional Truckers and an Unexpected Opening of the Foreign Fruit Market Has Helped Alleviate the Situation to Some Extent.

Zettie explained that the foreign fruit market, which three decades ago accepted a large quantity of Adams County fruit, now "has the artificial element of dollar credits to complicate things. When countries on the continent of Europe have a good dollar balance, they buy a large number of apples; when they don't have the dollar balance, then they can't buy. This year conditions so far seem favorable."

Size Varies

Quality is "extremely good" in many orchards, the county agent said. In some, very large apples have been produced. Some other orchards, where there was less rainfall, have produced a smaller fruit.

But even those areas in the county where apples did not reach usual large size, the apples have grown to a "good" size, Zettie said in comparison to some orchards in Virginia and Maryland.

While Adams County and Pennsylvania have a bumper crop, elsewhere in the nation "the crop is a little smaller than last year," Zettie reported. But the nationwide crop is still nine per cent above the ten-year average.

Adopt Spot Picking
Color is "a little off" on many apples because of the dry weather last summer, but "more growers are using spot picking to select the best for the fresh market," Zettie noted.

The dry weather led to an "excessive number of drops" the county agent reported, adding that at the present time it was impossible to determine how the number of drops will affect the final sizes of the crop. The extremely dry weather in many areas prevented use of sprays to stop dropping.

While "most Yorks are ready for picking right now," the facilities available for handling the heavy crop will prevent any more rapid harvesting of the apple crop and as a result the picking will continue into November, Zettie said.

EBY SERVICES HELD
Funeral services for Franklin L. Eby, 82, Littlestown R. 2 retired farmer and canner, who died suddenly on Monday while vacationing in Fort Bragg, Calif., were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. Glenn Finchbaugh, pastor of Redeemer's United Church of Christ, Littlestown, officiated. Interment was in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Littlestown. Serving as pallbearers were Irvin R. Kindig, Samuel Wildasin, Theron W. Spangler, Chester S. Byers, Harry W. H. Myers and Harry E. Feaser.

The honor was an additional one for the New Oxford Homemakers group. Last June at the state convention at Pennsylvania State University it received the sub-regional Red Rose Chapter award as the outstanding chapter in the area.

This morning's program included a report on the National FHA convention by Green Park members and Miss Roberta Linn, Newport Chapter adviser, and a discussion of the state program led by Rose Ann Swarr, state vice president.

The afternoon session featured one of the state projects: "Improving Chapter Meetings by Using Good Parliamentary Procedures." T. M. Malin, supervisor of agriculture for York County, assisted by eight Cumberland County FHA chapter presidents, presented a demonstration of proper methods of conducting meetings after which the 300 divided into ten smaller groups for practice of parliamentary procedures.

This week the teachers made a selection of five winners in each classroom. They will receive the materials to make paintings on 22 by 28-in show cards.

FLYNN RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD IN $25 COFFIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Errol Flynn, who made and spent millions, is returning to Hollywood in a $25 wooden coffin.

And three of the many women in the 50-year-old actor's life plan to attend his funeral Monday morning at Forest Lawn's Church of the Reformation. He will be buried in Memorial Park at Forest Lawn.

In death as in life, the screen lover stirred controversy. His estranged third wife, dancer Patrice Wymore, and his 17-year-old protégé, blonde Beverly Aadland, vied over who would handle the funeral arrangements.

Miss Aadland, who had been Flynn's companion for the last two years, planned to have the actor's body flown here from Vancouver, B.C., where he died, in a $1,000 coffin.

But she stepped aside as Miss Wymore and her lawyers gave instructions to an undertaking firm in Vancouver.

Miss Aadland, who was with Flynn when he died of a heart attack Wednesday, returned to Hollywood Friday night. Her arrival was marred by chaos at the International Airport.

The young actress was greeted by several friends. As they walked to a car, they fell over a restraining log. Miss Aadland fainted, and her friends shrieked at photographers not to take pictures. They carried her for some distance until she regained consciousness. Flynn's secretary, Ronald Shedio, waved a cane as he yelled at newsmen to keep their distance.

Nora Eddington, Flynn's second wife, plans to pay her final respects. The actor's first wife, French actress Lili Damita, is in Palm Beach, Fla. She doesn't plan to attend the rites.

THREE TRAPPED IN MINE CAVEIN

SILVERPEAK, Nev. (AP)—Persistent in the face of discouraging odds, rescue teams tunneled into a hill from three different directions today, trying to reach three men trapped or crushed by a mine shaft cave-in.

The shaft collapsed Friday at the Mohawk silver mine in a one-acre district south of this tiny western Nevada community.

"The odds are against the men being alive," said James Wike, business manager of the mine. "But there is still that hope."

"We're going to work around the clock until we find them. Dead or alive."

The missing men are Bill Delorme of Redding, Calif., James Robinson of Mina, Nev., and Sam Sackles of Tonopah, Nev. Robinson and Sackles are married and Wike said Sackles has adult children. Robinson's wife stood outside the mine Friday as rescuers took turns working in three-man teams in the narrow tunnels.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS HARD HIT BY STEEL STRIKE

DETROIT (AP)—With its steel shortage pinch turning into an actual squeeze, the auto industry faced huge uncertainties today.

On the one hand General Motors' reduced car production with its manpower layoff at the 60,000 mark. GM has not promised production beyond Nov. 1.

In addition the fate of an early October sales boom for the new 1960 model cars was in question. The industry has enjoyed its highest sales in five years in the new model introduction period, aided by week-to-week production increases.

General Motors, largest of the manufacturers, remains the hardest hit. Neither Ford nor Chrysler, others of the "big three," has reported serious setback yet.

Overnight, however, Chrysler made its first cutback. It will close its Imperial model plant one day next week. Imperial will close on Monday but will operate the other four days of the week.

Of the numerous states where the industry builds automobiles, Michigan has been the worst sufferer in layoffs from the steel walkout.

The State Employment Security Commission said that Michigan's layoff total, mostly auto workers, is expected to reach 58,000 by the end of the month. There are now an estimated 32,000.

Speculation in the industry over how long plant shutdowns might last beyond a steel strike settlement ranged from three to five weeks.

Castro Names Brother Head Of Armed Forces

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Strongman Fidel Castro has elevated his 28-year-old brother Raul to the Cuban cabinet.

Raul will take over the newly created Ministry of Armed Forces.

The younger Castro, a bitter critic of the United States, already is commander in chief of the armed forces. The new post will enable him to make many military decisions on his own.

There also was speculation that Raul's appointment may be a preliminary step leading to Fidel's resignation as prime minister to concentrate on his job as president of the National Institute of Agrarian Reform. There have been unconfirmed reports that the Cuban leader wants to take a more active role in the direction of the agency charged with a vast land distribution program. He has called the program the "cornerstone of the revolution."

Draft "Organic Law"

According to the reports, Minister of State Raul Roa would become prime minister.

The decree appointing Raul gives him 60 days in which to draft an "organic law" governing operations of the new ministry. This was interpreted in some quarters as meaning the younger Castro will have more authority in purging the armed forces—particularly the navy. The navy, unlike the other branches, was not subjected to a drastic shakeup after the revolution.

It also could mean a revamping of all military forces.

Abolish Old Ministry

Raul's elevation is expected to speed up military action against enemies of the revolution. There has been a noticeable increase recently in antigovernment activities in the western province of Pinar del Rio.

The old Ministry of Defense was abolished, the decree said, because it had never functioned properly.

Considered almost an important as young Castro's appointment was the selection of outgoing Defense Minister Augusto Martinez to head the Labor Ministry.

A combat veteran of the revolution, he succeeds Manuel Fernandez Garcia, who resigned. Garcia had been under fire from both labor and management for lack of firmness in dealing with a heavy backlog of labor problems.

Raul's appointment and Martinez's transfer to the Labor Ministry are part of a trend by the government to place men with "more dynamic revolutionary spirit" in key positions.

YOUNG FATHER ACQUITTED OF KILLING WIFE

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury of 10 women and two men took just 80 minutes of deliberation to acquit Duncan Hansen, 29, of a charge of murdering his former wife, Susan.

Screams of happiness from the defendant's relatives and friends filled Criminal Court Friday night as the jury foreman read the verdict to Judge Robert E. English. "I plan to return to a normal life," Hansen told the newsmen who streamed toward him. "I want to see my children very badly."

Hansen has three children, and one of them, Nancy, 6, testified in his defense in a tense, dramatic appearance before a packed courtroom.

Hansen, a tall, bespectacled part-time school teacher, was accused of slaying Susan Hansen, 25, May 24 in her South Side home a month after she had divorced him on grounds of cruelty. She was found dead on the floor of her bedroom with a broken neck.

Family Holds Party

As soon as the verdict was announced, Hansen turned and hugged his defense attorney, Charles A. Bellows. Then he embraced his mother and brothers, Julian and Richard, both lawyers who also aided in the defense.

The Hansen family held a big party after the trial at Duncan's parents' home. The three Hansen children, Nancy, Charles, 4, and Laura, 2, were not present. It was Nancy's testimony that provided one of the dramatic highlights of the trial and brought the case nationwide attention. Nancy, not knowing her mother had been slain and that her father was on trial, told a story which generally supported her father's account of what happened that fatal morning.

Hansen, who steadfastly maintained he knew nothing of the crime, contended a prowler probably killed his former wife.

MARY GARDEN'S LIFE IS SAVED BY GARDENER

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The voice that brought operatic fame to Mary Garden half a century ago saved her life Friday. Nearly overcome by gas fumes in her home, the frail, 82-year-old former prima donna raised faint cries for help before collapsing.

A gardener tending the flowerbeds of a neighbor, Dorothy Bell, heard her. They found Miss Garden lying almost unconscious just inside her front door and summoned a doctor. She was reported making a good recovery.

Mrs. Bell said that the retired singer, who lives alone, "apparently had turned on the gas cooker (stove) and became faint before she could either turn it out or light it."

Prefers Living Alone
"She must have recovered enough to crawl to the door."

After treating Miss Garden, noted for her temperament, the doctor left, arranging to call back later to find out how she was progressing.

When he returned, his knock on the front door went unanswered. He called police, who forced open the door.

The doctor ordered Miss Garden moved to the country home of her sister, Mrs. Amy Bower. But she insisted on living by herself even though her housekeeper had just resigned.

Miss Garden was born in Aberdeen but her parents moved to the United States in 1880 when she was 3. She made her operatic debut in Paris 20 years later, and in 1910 began a long career in Chicago. She retired in 1931 and returned to Aberdeen.

building to the joint school board, represented by Dr. R. D. Wickerham, board president and presiding officer for the evening.

Contractors' representatives and other platform guests were introduced by Dr. Wickerham.

Quotes Horace Mann

Doctor Albohm, who was introduced by Gettysburg's superintendent of schools, H. Edgar Riegle, said:

"How fitting in this historic place as we dedicate this school in the name of America's greatest living American, Dwight David Eisenhower, that we remind ourselves of the words spoken by Horace Mann, over a hundred years ago: 'If there was ever a cause, worthy to be upheld by all of toil or sacrifice that the human hand or heart can endure, it is the cause of education. It has intrinsic and indestructible merits. It holds the welfare of mankind in its embrace.'—and—'A patriot is known by the interest he takes in the education of the young. Education is our only political safety.'—and again—'Summon the mightiest intellects; collect whatever of talent, or erudition, or eloquence, or authority the broad land can supply—and in the name of the living God go forth and teach this people.'"

"The focus of the medieval European community was a cathedral. The focus of a modern American community is the public school."

Talks On "Greatness"

"Our subject, tonight, is greatness. Out of our history; out of our ideas; out of our great men's lives has emerged a pattern and a purpose that is America. Whenever we deviate from the great concept of self government; whenever we blind ourselves to the dynamic of human freedom; whenever we refuse to extend and enrich the opportunity for education; whenever we fail to use the great dimensions of personal integrity and moral character, we cheat ourselves and dim the lights of progress and human improvement."

"The great contributions of America to the world have been: 'Out of the diversity of our people has come a great nation. We have proved that out of diversity of race, religion and color can come a United States.'"

Triumph For Freedom

"Out of the diversity of our religions has come a triumph for a new principle, namely, freedom of religion for all men of different religions and the principle of the separation of church and state. 'Out of our great fundamental documents—the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States—are raised a standard for human freedom and a solemn compact for man's right to govern himself.'"

"Out of the greatest discovery ever made by man, the common school, we have opened a pathway of opportunity; a formula of quality and quantity; an assurance for literacy, and a common bond and diversity that has helped make America great."

Promise To Humanity

"Out of the character of Washington; the wisdom of Jefferson; the moral strength of Jackson; the compassion of Lincoln; the integrity of Cleveland; the energy of Theodore Roosevelt; the vision of Wilson; the social progress of Franklin Roosevelt, and the world leadership of Dwight D. Eisenhower, have come a promise to all humanity that the last best hope of freedom will not vanish from the earth."

"In the decade of debate in the days that lie ahead the American people will want answers. Our people will need new standards of excellence. Our people will need a refining of moral and spiritual values. Our people will be compelled to marshal all their human and material resources to provide massive financing of education; improved research; social gains in health and welfare; secure defense; and ever widening horizons of national and international responsibility. All of this must be done within the confines of self Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 42 met Wednesday evening at Christ Lutheran Church with 15 girls present. A flag ceremony was held in which Demaree Dear-dorff, Ann Weinberg, Nancy Kuhn, Tem Bulleit and Nancy Helfrick participated. Assignments for reports on the Conservation Badge were given. government; human freedom; social responsibility, and spiritual insight."

Letter From President

In his remarks during his presentation of the building to the school district, Authority Board Chairman Hutchison paid special tribute to the services of Gerry Orndorff, Hanover, on-the-job superintendent for the Buchart Associates. Mr. Orndorff later was introduced from the platform as were representatives of chief contractors for the $341,000 school.

Printed dedication program were distributed including a letter of greeting and congratulation from President Eisenhower. "I cannot tell you how proud I am to have my name connected with this fine new addition to the educational facilities of our community," the President wrote as he sent "warm greetings to my neighbors" and congratulations. The President had been invited to attend the dedication but was unable to accept.

No Frills

In his remarks, Dr. Wickerham pointed out that the comparatively low "per pupil" construction cost of the new building, about $789 as compared with a state average of $1,089, does not indicate any skimping on services, facilities or quality, but resulted from a lucky choice of dates for asking bids on the new building, the elimination of frills and attention to economy. Several speakers referred to the safety of the building from the standpoint of fire hazards.

Platform introductions included the building's first principal, Paul S. Burkholder, who formerly was principal at the Meade School.

The half-hour band program that preceded the dedication included solos by Hollace Imler, William Deal, Edith Baker and Richard Harman. The accompanists included Lydia Imler, Mrs. Robert Deardorff and Mrs. William Strickhouser.

Gifts Announced

There was special mention from the platform of that fact that the American flag and stand and the picture of Abraham Lincoln in the general purpose room had been presented to the school by the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Corporal Skelly Post No. 9.

Contracts for the Eisenhower building were awarded in March of 1958 and the building was occupied when the current school term opened September 1. The principal contractors were: General construction, W. O. Oyer Inc., Waynesboro; electrical, Angell's Electric Service, Taneytown; heating, Frank Ferraris, Shippensburg; plumbing, Kottcamp Construction Company, Chambersburg; and seeding and landscaping, Lincolnway Nurseries.

Gen. Marshall

life he was recalled to duty as secretary of state and again, during the Korean War, as secretary of defense.

For his formulation of the Marshall Plan, which bolstered free nations of the West with massive economic aid from America, Marshall was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1953.

President Eisenhower called Marshall's death "a cause for profound grief throughout the United States." He ordered the flag to be flown at half staff from all public buildings and military installations until after Marshall's funeral Tuesday afternoon.

Typically, Marshall had decreed that his funeral be a simple one. It will be held at Ft. Myer Chapel, on the edge of the Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia. Interment in the cemetery, resting place of soldiers both illustrious and humble, will be private.

Eisenhower's statement said in part: "For his unswerving devotion to the safeguarding of the security and freedom of our nation, for his wise counsel and action and driving determination in times of grave danger, we are lastingly in his debt."

It was Marshall who recognized the ability of a very junior brigadier general named Dwight Eisenhower to a key post and later sent him on up the ladder to become supreme Allied commander for the European invasion.

Many Tributes

Until the day Eisenhower became president, Marshall, in his clipped, correct and almost cold manner, addressed him only as "Eisenhower."

Other tributes to Marshall poured in from statesmen and from his few surviving colleagues of highest rank in World War II. "He was one of the greatest Americans our country has ever produced," said Gen. Omar Bradley.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said, "He was the architect of the great armies that stemmed the advance of the Germans in Europe and raised the troops that helped us win the war in the Pacific. His postwar services as secretary of defense and secretary of state marked him as a most unusual and able man, capable of carrying on in almost any capacity for his country's good."

Children Play With 11 Rockets

ALPENA, Mich. (AP)—Police went on the jump upon discovering that children were using Air Force rockets for toys.

The officers rounded up 11 of the 3½-foot rockets Friday and put them safely in a vault until the Air Force could have a look.

Where did the rockets come from? Parents of some of the children said the youngsters told them they got them from fishermen who netted them in Lake Huron.

ARMS-MAKING ON INCREASE IN WEST GERMANY

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN (AP)—Arms-making is on the increase in West Germany, and American money and technical know-how—almost by accident—are giving it a big boost.

Just how far it will go remains to be seen.

U.S. government officials say they are watching the development with interest and some concern.

The Defense Ministry says it has no desire to see a major arms industry grow up again in Germany but adds it can't do anything to prevent Americans from spending their money where and how they wish.

American and German industrialists agree that arms-making is not the major concern of American investors here.

Three Major Factors

But, a German official said, "who can say where arms production begins and ends."

The statement came from Rudolf Richter, director of the stock market division of the influential German Bank.

He and American experts agree there are three major factors in the flow of U.S. dollars into German industry:

1. Americans want to get a firm foothold in the European market, particularly in Germany, before the six-nation common market erects a formidable tariff wall against American goods.

2. American investors estimate their money can go further where production costs, particularly labor, are cheaper than at home.

3. Americans feel that West Germany is going to grow more and more important as an arms producer and that profit is to be had in the field.

"But the latter point is essentially a by-product of the first two," says Richter.

American officials point out that the major area of U.S. investment in the field of defense production has been aircraft.

U.S. money is going chiefly into the building of wholly owned subsidiary plants rather than in purchase of shares in German industry.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce office in West Berlin reports there are now about 350 wholly owned American firms operating in West Germany and Berlin.

YMCA Organizing "Indian Guides"

Robert Kauffman, a Gettysburg Theological Seminary student who is assisting with YMCA work in this area, is helping to organize the Indian Guide program of the YMCA in this community.

Fathers who have sons between the ages of 6 and 9 are invited to make inquiry about this national father-son organization which has for its main purpose, Mr. Kauffman said, to "multiply the number of things that fathers and sons can do together at an age when a boy thinks his dad is the greatest man in the world."

The YMCA Indian Guides were formed in 1926.

Information on the plans for the program here may be had by calling 419-W any day between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m.

FLYNN RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD IN $25 COFFIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Errol Flynn, who made and spent millions, is returning to Hollywood—in a $25 wooden coffin.

And three of the many women in the 50-year-old actor's life plan to attend his funeral Monday morning at Forest Lawn's Church of the Reformation. He will be buried in Memorial Park at Forest Lawn.

In death as in life, the screen lover stirred controversy. His estranged third wife, dancer Patrice Wymore, and his 17-year-old protégé, blonde Beverly Aadland, vied over who would handle the funeral arrangements.

Miss Aadland, who had been Flynn's companion for the last two years, planned to have the actor's body flown here from Vancouver, B.C., where he died, in a $1,000 coffin.

But she stepped aside as Miss Wymore and her lawyers gave instructions to an undertaking firm in Vancouver.

Miss Aadland, who was with Flynn when he died of a heart attack Wednesday, returned to Hollywood Friday night. Her arrival was marred by chaos at the International Airport.

The young actress was greeted by several friends. As they walked to a car, they fell over a restraining log. Miss Aadland fainted, and her friends shrieked at photographers not to take pictures. They carried her for some distance until she regained consciousness. Flynn's secretary, Ronald Shedio, waved a cane as he yelled at newsmen to keep their distance.

Nora Eddington, Flynn's second wife, plans to pay her final respects. The actor's first wife, French actress Lili Damita, is in Palm Beach, Fla. She doesn't plan to attend the rites.

THREE TRAPPED IN MINE CAVEIN

SILVERPEAK, Nev. (AP)—Persistent in the face of discouraging odds, rescue teams tunneled into a hill from three different directions today, trying to reach three men trapped or crushed by a mine shaft cave-in.

The shaft collapsed Friday at the Mohawk silver mine in a one-rich district south of this tiny western Nevada community.

"The odds are against the men being alive," said James Wike, business manager of the mine. "But there is still that hope."

"We're going to work around the clock until we find them. Dead or alive."

The missing men are Bill Delorme of Redding, Calif., James Robinson of Mina, Nev., and Sam Sikes of Tonopah, Nev. Robinson and Sikes are married and Wike said Sikes has adult children. Robinson's wife stood outside the mine Friday as rescuers took turns working in three-man teams in the narrow tunnels.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS HARD HIT BY STEEL STRIKE

DETROIT (AP)—With its steel shortage pinch turning into an actual squeeze, the auto industry faced huge uncertainties today.

On the one hand was General Motors' reduced car production with its manpower layoff at the 60,000 mark. GM has not promised production beyond Nov. 1.

In addition the fate of an early October sales boom for the new 1960 model cars was in question.

The industry has enjoyed its highest sales in five years in the new model introduction period, aided by week-to-week production increases.

General Motors, largest of the manufacturers, remains the hardest hit. Neither Ford nor Chrysler, others of the "big three," has reported serious setback yet.

Overnight, however, Chrysler made its first cutback. It will close its Imperial model plant one day next week. Imperial will close on Monday but will operate the other four days of the week.

Of the numerous states where the industry builds automobiles, Michigan has been the worst sufferer in layoffs from the steel walkout.

The State Employment Security Commission said that Michigan's layoff total, mostly auto workers, is expected to reach 58,000 by the end of the month. There are now an estimated 32,000.

Speculation in the industry over how long plant shutdowns might last beyond a steel strike settlement ranged from three to five weeks.

Sweet, Richmond, Va., appearing before the court on charges of robbing Gettysburg High School in 1957 of $2,150 worth of musical instruments, was sentenced to from one to 23 months in the Adams County jail and ordered to pay the costs. He had just completed 27 months of a three-year sentence in federal prison. Sweet told the court, and also faces "a long time" as a parole violator in Richmond, Va. A detainer is also filed against him from Akron, Ohio.

Rosa Belle Harris, 268 S. Washington St., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and ordered to pay the costs on an aggravated assault and battery charge brought against her by John Fuqua, S. Washington St. after she slashed him with a knife. Fuqua told the court "We had a little argument at the Dorsey-Stanton Legion home and I left because I could see we weren't going to get along. I was headed for home when she came running across the street and started cutting." Miss Harris said after the altercation at the Legion she had gone home and secured a knife and then went in search of Fuqua, who, she said, had called her "names."

Jesse T. Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 1, was given a suspended sentence on a charge of violating the uniform firearms act. In court this morning it was revealed that he was found with a loaded .22 pistol in his car. Hoffman, a Barlow fire policeman, said he had finished duty and stuck the gun under the seat and then forgot about it. The court said that new laws forbid the fire police to carry weapons.

Faced Two Charges

Homar Seymour Bobo, 24, W. Middle St., before the court on two hit-and-run charges, was sentenced to 30 days in jail on one and given a suspended sentence on the other on condition he pay $100 for the use of the county and the costs. Castro Names Brother
Head Of Armed Forces

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Strongman Fidel Castro has elevated his 28-year-old brother Raul to the Cuban cabinet.

Raul will take over the newly created Ministry of Armed Forces.

The younger Castro, a bitter critic of the United States, already is commander in chief of the armed forces. The new post will enable him to make many military decisions on his own.

There also was speculation that Raul's appointment may be a preliminary step leading to Fidel's resignation as prime minister to concentrate on his job as president of the National Institute of Agrarian Reform. There have been unconfirmed reports that the Cuban leader wants to take a more active role in the direction of the agency charged with a vast land distribution program. He has called the program the "cornerstone of the revolution."

Draft "Organic Law"
According to the reports, Minister of State Raul Roa would become prime minister.

The decree appointing Raul gives him 60 days in which to draft an "organic law" governing operations of the new ministry. This was interpreted in some quarters as meaning the younger Castro will have more authority in purging the armed forces—particularly the navy. The navy, unlike the other branches, was not subjected to a drastic shakeup after the revolution.

It also could mean a revamping of all military forces.

Abolish Old Ministry
Raul's elevation is expected to speed up military action against enemies of the revolution. There has been a noticeable increase recently in antigovernment activities in the western province of Pinar del Rio.

The old Ministry of Defense was abolished, the decree said, because it had never functioned properly.

Considered almost an important as young Castro's appointment was the selection of outgoing Defense Minister Augusto Martinez to head the Labor Ministry.

A combat veteran of the revolution, he succeeds Manuel Fernandez Garcia, who resigned. Garcia had been under fire from both labor and management for lack of firmness in dealing with a heavy backlog of labor problems.

Raul's appointment and Martinez's transfer to the Labor Ministry are part of a trend by the government to place men with "more dynamic revolutionary spirit" in key positions.

YOUNG FATHER
ACQUITTED OF
KILLING WIFE

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury of 10 women and two men took just 80 minutes of deliberation to acquit Duncan Hansen, 29, of a charge of murdering his former wife, Susan.

Screams of happiness from the defendant's relatives and friends filled Criminal Court Friday night as the jury foreman read the verdict to Judge Robert E. English.

"I plan to return to a normal life," Hansen told the newsmen who streamed toward him. "I want to see my children very badly."

Hansen has three children, and one of them, Nancy, 6, testified in his defense in a tense, dramatic appearance before a packed courtroom.

Hansen, a tall, bespectacled part-time school teacher, was accused of slaying Susan Hansen, 25, May 24 in her South Side home a month after she had divorced him on grounds of cruelty. She was found dead on the floor of her bedroom with a broken neck.

Family Holds Party
As soon as the verdict was announced, Hansen turned and hugged his defense attorney Charles A. Bellows. Then he embraced his mother and brothers, Julian and Richard, both lawyers who also aided in the defense.

The Hansen family held a big party after the trial at Duncan's parents' home. The three Hansen children, Nancy, Charles, 4, and Laura, 2, were not present.

It was Nancy's testimony that provided one of the dramatic highlights of the trial and brought the case nationwide attention. Nancy, not knowing her mother had been slain and that her father was on trial, told a story which generally supported her father's account of what happened that fatal morning.

Hansen, who steadfastly maintained he knew nothing of the crime, contended a prowler probably killed his former wife.

MARY GARDEN'S
LIFE IS SAVED
BY GARDENER

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The voice that brought operatic fame to Mary Garden half a century ago saved her life Friday.

Nearly overcome by gas fumes in her home, the frail, 82-year-old former prima donna raised faint cries for help before collapsing.

A gardener tending the flowerbeds of a neighbor, Dorothy Bell, heard her. She found Miss Garden lying almost unconscious just inside her front door and summoned a doctor. She was reported making a good recovery.

Mrs. Bell said that the retired singer, who lives alone, "apparently had turned on the gas cooker (stove) and became faint before she could either turn it out or light it."

Prefers Living Alone
"She must have recovered enough to crawl to the door." After treating Miss Garden, noted for her temperament, the doctor left, arranging to call back later to find out how she was progressing.

When he returned, his knock on the front door went unanswered. He called police, who forced open the door.

The doctor ordered Miss Garden moved to the country home of her sister, Mrs. Amy Bower. But she insisted on living by herself even though her housekeeper had just resigned.

Miss Garden was born in Aberdeen but her parents moved to the United States in 1880 when she was 3. She made her operatic debut in Paris 20 years later, and in 1910 began a long career in Chicago. She retired in 1931 and returned to Aberdeen.

Dr. Albohm

building to the joint school board, represented by Dr. R. D. Wickerham, board president and presiding officer for the evening.

Contractors' representatives and other platform guests were introduced by Dr. Wickerham.

Quotes Horace Mann
Doctor Albohm, who was introduced by Gettysburg's superintendent of schools, H. Edgar Riegle, said:

"How fitting in this historic place as we dedicate this school in the name of America's greatest living American, Dwight David Eisenhower, that we remind ourselves of the words spoken by Horace Mann, over a hundred years ago: 'If there was ever a cause, if ever there can be a cause, worthy to be upheld by all of toil or sacrifice that the human hand or heart can endure, it is the cause of education. It is intrinsic and indestructible merits. It holds the welfare of mankind in its embrace.'—and—'A patriot is known by the interest he takes in the education of the young. Education is our only political safety.'—and again—'Summon the mightiest intellects; collect whatever of talent, or erudition, or eloquence, or authority the broad land can supply—and in the name of the living God go forth and teach this people.'"

"The focus of the medieval European community was a cathedral. The focus of a modern American community is the public school."

Talks On "Greatness"
"Our subject, tonight, is greatness. Out of our history; out of our ideas; out of our great men's lives has emerged a pattern and a purpose that is America. Whenever we deviate from the great concept of self government; whenever we blind ourselves to the dynamic of human freedom; whenever we refuse to extend and enrich the opportunity for education; whenever we fail to use the great dimensions of personal integrity and moral character, we cheat ourselves and dim the lights of progress and human improvement."

"The great contributions of America to the world have been: 'Out of the diversity of our people has come a great nation. We have proved that out of diversity of race, religion and color can come a United States.'

Triumph For Freedom
"Out of the diversity of our religions has come a triumph for a new principle, namely, freedom of religion for all men of different religions and the principle of the separation of church and state."

"Out of our great fundamental documents—the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States—are raised a standard for human freedom and a solemn compact for man's right to govern himself."

"Out of the greatest discovery ever made by man, the common school, we have opened a pathway of opportunity; a formula of quality and quantity; an assurance for literacy; and a common bond and diversity that has helped make America great."

Promise To Humanity
"Out of the character of Washington; the wisdom of Jefferson; the moral strength of Jackson; the compassion of Lincoln; the integrity of Cleveland; the energy of Theodore Roosevelt; the vision of Wilson; the social progress of Franklin Roosevelt, and the world leadership of Dwight D. Eisenhower, have come a promise to all humanity that the last best hope of freedom will not vanish from the earth."

"In the decade of debate in the days that lie ahead the American people will want answers. Our people will need new standards of excellence. Our people will need a refining of moral and spiritual values. Our people will be compelled to marshal all their human and material resources to provide massive financing of education; improved research; social gains in health and welfare; secure defense; and ever widening horizons of national and international responsibility. All of this must be done within the confines of self government; human freedom; social responsibility, and spiritual insight."

Letter From President
In his remarks during his presentation of the building to the school district, Authority Board Chairman Hutchison paid special tribute to the services of Gerry Orndorff, Hanover, on-the-job superintendent for the Buchart Associates. Mr. Orndorff later was introduced from the platform as were representatives of chief contractors for the $341,000 school.

Printed dedication program were distributed including a letter of greeting and congratulation from President Eisenhower. "I cannot tell you how proud I am to have my name connected with this fine new addition to the educational facilities of our community," the President wrote as he sent "warm greetings to my neighbors" and congratulations. The President had been invited to attend the dedication but was unable to accept.

No Frills
In his remarks, Dr. Wickerham pointed out that the comparatively low "per pupil" construction cost of the new building, about $789 as compared with a state average of $1,089, does not indicate any skimping on services, facilities or quality, but resulted from a lucky choice of dates for asking bids on the new building, the elimination of frills and attention to economy. Several speakers referred to the safety of the building from the standpoint of fire hazards.

Platform introductions included the building's first principal, Paul S. Burkholder, who formerly was principal at the Meade School.

The half-hour band program that preceded the dedication included solos by Hollace Imler, William Deal, Edith Baker and Richard Harman. The accompanists included Lydia Imler, Mrs. Robert Deardorff and Mrs. William Strickhouser.

Gifts Announced
There was special mention from the platform of that fact that the American flag and stand and the picture of Abraham Lincoln in the general purpose room had been presented to the school by the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Corporal Skelly Post No. 9.

Contracts for the Eisenhower building were awarded in March of 1958 and the building was occupied when the current school term opened September 1. The principal contractors were: General construction, W. O. Oyer Inc., Waynesboro; electrical, Angell's Electric Service, Taneytown; heating, Frank Ferraris, Shippensburg; plumbing, Kottcamp Construction Company, Chambersburg; and seeding and landscaping, Lincolnway Nurseries.

Gen. Marshall

life he was recalled to duty as secretary of state and again, during the Korean War, as secretary of defense.

For his formulation of the Marshall Plan, which bolstered free nations of the West with massive economic aid from America, Marshall was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1953.

President Eisenhower called Marshall's death "a cause for profound grief throughout the United States." He ordered the flag to be flown at half staff from all public buildings and military installations until after Marshall's funeral Tuesday afternoon.

Typically, Marshall had decreed that his funeral be a simple one. It will be held at Ft. Myer Chapel, on the edge of the Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia. Interment in the cemetery, resting place of soldiers both illustrious and humble, will be private.

Eisenhower's statement said in part: "For his unswerving devotion to the safeguarding of the security and freedom of our nation, for his wise counsel and action and driving determination in times of grave danger, we are lastingly in his debt."

It was Marshall who recognized the ability of a very junior brigadier general named Dwight Eisenhower to a key post and later sent him on up the ladder to become supreme Allied commander for the European invasion.

Many Tributes
Until the day Eisenhower became president, Marshall, in his clipped, correct and almost cold manner, addressed him only as "Eisenhower."

Other tributes to Marshall poured in from statesmen and from his few surviving colleagues of highest rank in World War II. "He was one of the greatest Americans our country has ever produced," said Gen. Omar Bradley.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said, "He was the architect of the great armies that stemmed the advance of the Germans in Europe and raised the troops that helped us win the war in the Pacific. His postwar services as secretary of defense and secretary of state marked him as a most unusual and able man, capable of carrying on in almost any capacity for his country's good."

Children Play
With 11 Rockets
ALPENA, Mich. (AP)—Police went on the jump upon discovering that children were using Air Force rockets for toys.

The officers rounded up 11 of the 3½-foot rockets Friday and put them safely in a vault until the Air Force could have a look. Where did the rockets come from?

Parents of some of the children said the youngsters told them they got them from fishermen who netted them in Lake Huron.

Bail Union Men
For Tax Evasion
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eight Teamsters Local 107 organizers responded Friday to bench warrants issued following federal grand jury indictments charging them with income tax evasion.

U. S. Commissioner Edward W. Furia released the eight in $1,000 bail each. All had been indicted Wednesday on charges of evading a total of $5,067 in income taxes.

TEN YEARS AGO

C. Arthur Brame New Probation Officer Here: C. Arthur Brame, Lincolnway east, was named probation officer for Adams county by the county court this morning. He will begin his duties as successor to the late B. E. Bixler on November 1. Mrs. Martha McClellan, who has been acting as probation officer since the illness and death of Mr. Bixler, will continue as acting probation officer until Mr. Brame begins his duties.

A former prothonotary and clerk to the commissioners, Brame later served as manager of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage company and as a field official of the state milk control commission.

Anniversary Of Local Council Of K. C. Marked: Gettysburg Council No. 2339, Knights of Columbus, Sunday celebrated the 25th anniversary of the gift of the memorial front at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church by the state Council of Pennsylvania, and establishment of the local council.

Features of the observance were solemn high mass held at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning and a banquet for about 200 Knights of Columbus and their families Sunday night at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Ukrainians To Display Crafts In Hotel Annex: Adams county's newest residents, refugees from the Ukraine, will present an exhibit of their native arts, skills and handicrafts in the Pennsylvania Week display to be held in the Hotel Gettysburg annex October 20, 21 and 22.

Sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club the display will include national costumes as well as handicrafts. The arts and crafts of the Ukrainians will probably become, in time, part of the traditional lore of Pennsylvania, members of the club's committee said.

Thinks Phenicians May Have Been First Gettysburg Tourists: Did the Phenicians from Carthage, on the north coast of Africa, visit Gettysburg some three or four centuries before the birth of Christ?

Dr. William W. Strong, of Mechanicsburg, thinks they may have, and in support of his theory says that he has discovered several stones at Devil's Den similar to the "X" stones found near Harrisburg with markings believed to be writings of the ancient maritime people.

Dr. Strong used to be a casual collector of Indian artifacts. Some eight or nine years ago he began hearing from other amateur collectors about grooved stones, apparently ancient, which fit into no known class of Indian artifacts.

The stones are of a grainy, crystalline, igneous rock and the markings, says Dr. Strong, were made by some abrasive process, not cut with an edged tool. The brownish oxidized scale on the stones indicates an age greater than the 1,000 or so years which is supposed to be the length of time the Indians were in the Susquehanna Valley.

Dr. Strong tried comparison with several ancient alphabets and finally came to the conclusion that the "X" markings are Phoenician writing and more particularly Carthaginian. There is some support for Dr. Strong's belief that the Carthaginians may have been here about 371 B. C. An old historian, Jiam de Mariana, a Jesuit priest born in 1536, mentions a trip by the Carthaginians to a place that may well have been America.

A TREASURE FOR THE AGES
I have a small volume that I often turn to for lighted words to give me courage, hope and confidence. It is a rare visit to spend reading "The Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius"—a book that the great Roman emperor wrote—"To Myself," and which is described by one editor as "one of the surprises of literature."

For centuries this personal treasure of thoughts was unknown. It was first published in 1558. The original manuscript has been lost, but its form and substance remain. Its writing "took possession of his whole being, emotion and imagination as well as intellect and will and fulfilled its claim of showing forth the life 'conformed to nature,' and of putting man at one with himself, with the universe and with God."

I can give only a brief citation of this remarkable man. My small copy I bought at a second-hand shop, which was published by Macmillan and Co., London, 1920. The introduction to this edition is very revealing. Here are some lines from that famous classic: "Man is part of the world-life." "What a thought to dignify his destiny and chase misgivings!" "Even in sleep we are fellow-workers with God." "No man can rob of us our will."

What is one of the finest editions of the writings of Marcus Aurelius is that one by Thomas Gataker, "who in extreme old age, in his quiet rectory at Rothamstead, considered this the best preparation for approaching death."

Grief shadowed the Roman Empire when this beloved ruler died March 17, 180 A.D. Men said to one another: "He whom the gods lent us has rejoined the gods."

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE TRIAL OF HENRY HEIST

When Henry Heist, the man who was executed for the murder of Emanuel Monn in 1894, voluntarily gave himself up to the authorities of Adams County he declared himself, in no uncertain terms, innocent of the crime of which he was accused. The account of Heist's surrender, as given in the "Star and Sentinel" for March 21, 1893, is continued:

"To the several newspaper men, who visited Heist in his cell on Saturday last, he repeatedly denied that he killed Emanuel Monn. He did say, however, that he knew who committed the deed. He said that he thought Monn had been made away with by some men who had illegally sold him cider and wine and wanted him out of the way. Monn was under age, and, according to Heist, was fond of liquor. Heist said Emanuel Monn left the cabin two weeks before he did, saying he intended to go to Frederick, Maryland, and other places. Monn's sister said, 'Well, if Emanuel is foolish enough to go traveling, you (meaning Heist) come to our house.'"

Denies Burning Hatchet

"Henry Heist left the cabin (which he had shared with young Monn) about February 3, 1893. So Emanuel Monn, according to the above statement, must have left some time about the middle of January (1893). Although seemingly contradictory, Heist said he and his niece (Susan McClellan, 'the woman in the case') started for Franklin County, Pennsylvania, the day after Monn left. After he (Heist) got to Franklin County he got sick and was in bed for a week, being attended by a Fayetteville physician. He denied having burned a hatchet and said no one ever saw him burning it. He confessed there was an old hatchet about the cabin, but the head broke off one day when Monn was using it and he burned it out. He also denied having been at Jacob Monn's behind the door when the officers came there searching for him."

"When he (Heist) heard himself mentioned as the murderer he determined to give himself up, rather than allow Constable Rock, of Waynesboro, who, he said, was not a friend of his and had too big a mouth, to arrest him. He would have been in on Tuesday, but he wanted to get some clothes. He protested he was innocent and said he could lie down on his bed and sleep as soundly and comfortably as anybody."

In Jail 5 Months

From March until August, 1893, Henry Heist remained in the Adams County jail, while his lawyers, George J. Benner and John Reed Scott, Esqs., worked on his defense. In this he gave them little help for he persistently refused to do anything except declare his innocence. The people of Fairfield and vicinity had their own opinion and the question of Heist's guilt or innocence was debated "pro and con"—the matter coming to blows in several known instances.

In the August, 1893, term of Court the Trial of Henry Heist for the murder of Emanuel Monn, was held. As stated in the Court records—"the whole jury panel was exhausted and only four were accepted. The others were either stood aside or challenged. The jurors as they were chosen were:—Jacob Gisey, Oxford Township; John J. Small, Mount Pleasant Township; Samuel H. Strayer, Latimore Township; D. B. Gouker, Germany Township; Joseph Miller, Reading Township; Joseph Colgan, Oxford Township; John E. Plank, Cumberland Township; John Geiselman, Oxford Township; William A. Trostle, Huntington Township; George Hulick, Strabann Township; Charles S. Gochnour, Reading Township; and John Irvin, Franklin Township."

The following notes on the testimony in the trial of Henry Heist were taken from the official court records of the same. Judge William McClean presided and District Attorney Duncan conducted the prosecution.

First Witness

1. First Witness—William P. Quimby, Esq., called by the Commonwealth. A surveyor, Mr. Quimby had, under the direction of the District Attorney, made a careful survey of the mountain where the murder was committed. The survey showed the location of the shanty, where the murder is alleged to have been committed, the George Reese house and the grave. The distance of the Reese house from the shanty is 315 feet and the grave from the shanty is 2,185 feet. On cross examination Mr. Quimby said that there was little difference in elevation of the shanty and the grave—but there was a considerable depression between them.

Second Witness

2. Second Witness—Levi Mumper—photographer—Mr. Mumper reproduced photographs taken by Carl Neidy of the body of Emanuel Monn showing the cut in the throat of the murdered man. He also took photographs of the shanty, the George Reese house, and the grave of Monn.

Dr. A. O. Scott—Doctor of Medicine

Dr. A. O. Scott testified that he examined the body of Emanuel Monn after it was removed from the grave on March 12, 1893. Dr. Scott gave the following details—"I first saw the body lying in a large trench. I found a cut in the forehead, the skull crushed in the forehead and a wound back of the left ear. The wound back of the ear was a large one and seemed as if it had been made by a succession of blows. The wound in the forehead was apparently made by a hatchet or hammer. The wound in the throat was about three and one-half inches long and almost deep enough to reach the bone. The windpipe was severed and a part of the chin cut away. This wound was done by one blow."

Body Partially Buried

"I examined the body of Emanuel Monn partly in the grave and partly out. The body was lying on its back and had been uncovered sometime before I got there. From its appearance it may have been in the ground a month or more. The wound behind the ear might have been made on a dead body, it was slightly curved and not cut with a sharp instrument. Any of three wounds could have been fatal. The wound in the throat was about the size of one made by a sharp hatchet, and must have been made while lying down with the head thrown back."

Fourth Witness

4. Fourth Witness—Dr. James E. Glenn—Doctor of Medicine—"I saw the body of Emanuel Monn and made an examination. I noted on the forehead of the dead man a wound and the bone was broken. There was a wound behind the left ear into which I pressed my little finger at least one and one-half inches through the skull into the brain. There was a cut in the throat and a part of the chin was cut away. I was not there to make a post mortem examination but merely out of curiosity as the others were."

Fifth Witness

5. Fifth Witness—Christian Shockey—"I was in Hamilton-Shockey Township on the 12th of March and I went to hunt for Emanuel Monn. We hunted on the job of John Peters and then went down to the shanty. We then went down and looked on the side of the hill, where I saw a pile of logs and a black oak log. I called some to come there and we went to the spot which proved to be the grave. Constable Peters took the brush off and then we waited until there were twenty-six people there. Then we took the ground off the grave and saw Monn's shoe sticking up. I knew Emanuel Monn and knew his body after it was taken up. Monn was lying on his back. Messrs. Peters and Sanders got me to go along in the search. Before we took the rails and stones off the grave we called the other searchers."

Sixth Witness

6. Sixth Witness—James O. Sanders—"I first uncovered the grave. I saw Monn's boot sticking out. I also saw the marks of a maddock at the head of the grave. I was there when the body was lifted out of the grave. One man didn't do it."

Seventh Witness

7. Seventh Witness—John H. Nagle—"Henry Heist came to my place, near Newman's, between seven and eight o'clock in the evening and asked whether he could come in and dry his stockings. This I allowed him to do. Heist then asked about the back roads down the mountain."

With Searching Party

8. Eighth Witness—Jacob Shockey—"I was out with the searching party on March 12th. I was present when the body was taken from the grave. I helped to take off the rails—then the flat stones that covered the grave. We first saw the toe of one of Monn's boots."

Ninth Witness

9. Ninth Witness—Ambrose Sanders—Testified that he was one of the searching party and was present when the grave of Emanuel Monn was found.

Tenth Witness

10. Tenth Witness—Susan McClellan—"I live at Maria Furnace with George Reese. I have known Henry Heist for a good while. Heist lived above our house—in the shanty. He began to live there last fall. Emanuel Monn lived with him. I had an engagement with Monn about the first of February to go over to his (Monn's) house. I was at Reese's house on the first of February with a number of other people, among who were Henry Heist and Emanuel Monn."

The account of the trial of Henry Heist for the murder of Emanuel Monn will be continued in this column next week.

Ben Jones, who last winter accepted a one-year contract as head football coach at Berwick High School, was given an additional two-year contract by the Berwick School Board Wednesday evening. Jones, who coached at Gettysburg High for two years prior to going to Berwick, has won three and lost two games this season.

The Harper's Ferry raid, October 16-18, 1859, that followed, is an oft told story. Brown's "army" wounded 10 or 12 and killed four citizens, the first being a highly respected, unarmed, free negro. The poor man did not know what "halt" meant. The mayor, unarmed, was also killed. A carpet bag filled with Brown's papers and correspondence gave the Virginia prosecuting attorney a tight case of premeditated murder, inciting revolt, treason. Brown's Virginia attorneys immediately and quite correctly put in pleas of insanity. Brown disdainfully insisted he was sane, fired his attorneys.

The Northern abolition lunatic fringe concurred and sent an attorney from New England. He was primarily interested in plans for Brown's escape and flight to Canada. Brown's Northern accessories were worried. Gerrit Smith cracked and was confined in the Utica Insane Asylum.

The "constitution" could have been designed originally to get more money. But to Brown it became a delusion of power. Under the "higher law" philosophy of the extreme abolitionists, he decided he was in constant contact with the Lord. Who always told him his deeds and plans were right.

Warriors And Middletown In Scoreless Tie; GHS Muffs Scoring Chances

The Gettysburg Warriors, after missing two scoring chances in the first quarter, played Middletown Area High to a 0-0 tie in a South Penn Conference encounter Friday night on the Middletown Memorial Field before 1,300 fans.

Coach Don Young's Warriors now have a 1-3-1 season record and are 0-2-1 in conference play. Middletown is 3-2-1 on the season.

The Warriors bobbled two scoring chances in the first period. After a short kickoff by Bob Furney to open the game, Jason Gulden pounced on the loose ball on the home team's 44-yard line. Furney and Bill Shoemaker picked up eight yards and a Furney to Don Waddell aerial fell incomplete. After the Warriors were penalized 15 yards Furney got away a 35-yard punt which Middletown Halfback Martin Hahn fumbled and Jim Snead recovered on the Blue Raiders' 17.

Shoemaker toted the ball to the 12 on two carries and on two more plays by Furney and Shoemaker the ball was resting on the Middletown four. After the first two plays were stopped at the line of scrimmage, Furney tried two more times to push the ball over the goal line but was stopped on the one and the Blue Raiders took over.

Gulden's Run Nullified
On 11 plays Middletown moved the ball out to their own 38 but were forced to punt. John Garish, Middletown halfback, booted a 34-yard punt which Gulden hauled in on his own 27 and with a fine exhibition of broken field running and well placed blocks scampered 73 yards into the end zone but an untimely clipping penalty cost the Warriors the score and 15 yards.

The entire second period was played in Gettysburg territory. Middletown started a drive on the Warriors' 40 and advanced the ball to the Battlefields' 2-yard line but solid tackling and a fumble by Fullback Jim Souders, which was recovered by Don Goldsmith, stopped Middletown's ideas of scoring.

The second half opened with an exchange of fumbles, until Gettysburg had possession of the pigskin on their own 43. Gulden ran for six yards around left end, but Ron Mickle and Bill Miller were stopped at the line of scrimmage and Furney was called upon to punt. The senior fullback booted a 50-yard kick which rolled dead on the opponents' 2. Middletown brought the ball out to the 24-yard line. The remainder of the period was played in the Raiders' half of the field.

The fourth stanza was another exchange of fumbles, interceptions and punts, back and forth across the 50-yard line with neither team making any substantial gains.

Revolving Backfield
Coach Young alternated junior Bill Miller and sophomore Tom Duane at quarterback, and at times both men were in the game with Duane stationed at halfback and Bob Furney doing the passing. Both of the small, young signal callers did a fine job and with a little more experience will be able to hold their own in the backfield. Gulden and Shoemaker added greatly to the Warriors' running attack while Furney came through with the long passing gains.

Don Goldsmith, still hampered with a knee injury, turned in a

YANKS MISS SHOW UPSET

HARRISBURG (AP)—A pair of Connecticut Yankees are spearheading a United States attempt to gallop off with the international jumping title at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show here.

They are Team Capt. William Steinkraus, from West Port, and George Morris, of New Canaan. With teammate Frank Chapot of Wallpack, N. J., they came within a few whiskers of upsetting an 11-year jinx Friday night that has kept the U. S. team from ever winning the show's opening preliminary event.

As it turned out, Brazil's Col. Elroy Menezes, 48, rode off to top honors astride a chestnut gelding Sultao in competition with other teams from Canada, Argentina and Mexico.

Morris tied for second place on Sinjon with Argentina's Lt. Carlos Marcelli of Miami. Third on the seven-obstacle course was Pedro Mayorga of Argentina on Stromboli.

Morris, at 21 the youngest member of the U. S. team, took the place of Hugh Wiley of Towson, Md. Wiley led the U. S. to victory in the Washington Horse Show earlier this week against the same international competitors.

SAYS PRO GRID LOOP PLANS TO ADD 4 TEAMS

CHICAGO (AP) — Family arguments are disrupting the serenity of the National Football League and from the confusion of contradictory and acid-spiced statements from club officials one fact stood out clearly: The league definitely is planning expansion.

The rumormongers, following closely on the heels of the death of Commissioner Bert Bell, was touched off by a positive statement by Edwin J. Anderson, president, general manager of the Detroit Lions, that the league is making every effort to add four teams—two teams each in 1960 and 1961.

"But all the mechanics and the cities are yet to be decided," Anderson added. He listed Buffalo, Boston, Miami, Louisville, Dallas and Houston as in the running for franchises, with Boston, Dallas and Houston as the strongest possibilities.

"Premature Statement"
George Halas, owner-coach of the NFL Expansion Committee took a moderate view of Anderson's pronouncement.

"We will have something definite to say about the league expanding next week," Halas said Friday. "Anderson's statement is premature. We can't say anything yet."

George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, wasn't so tolerant, however. "I note that Mr. Anderson's name has been mentioned in connection with the commissioner's ship," the fiery Redskin boss said vehemently, "but I think he is a little premature in making statements about the league in general. He should wait until he is elected."

Canners Blast Warwick 31-12 As Jacoby Tallies Five More Touchdowns

Speedster Kermit Jacoby, Biglerville High back, went on another scoring binge Friday night as he scored five touchdowns in leading the Cannners to their fifth straight victory, a 31-12 verdict over surprised Warwick Union of Littleton, before about 1,500 fans at Biglerville.

It took the high-flying Cannners nine plays to cover 43 yards for their initial score in the first period after taking possession via a Warwick punt. Jacoby smacked over from the two and Vance Johnston booted the point.

Early in the second period Warwick recovered a Biglerville fumble on the four-yard line but Biglerville's line arose to the occasion and took the ball on downs on the two.

Jacoby Goes 85
From there the Cannners struck for their second score. After advancing to the 15 Jacoby got away on his longest run of the evening when he got around right end and cut back across the field to race 85 yards for the score. Johnston's kick for the point was wide.

Warwick struck for its first TD in the third period after recovering a Biglerville fumble on the Cannners' 41. Skipp Kopp fired a pass to Roy Clair for 36 yards and then Clair went over from the five.

The Cannners bounced right back, moving 55 yards on five plays with Jacoby going the last 19 on an off-tackle play. A pass for the point fell incomplete.

Biglerville scored again after 6:55 of the period when Jacoby went over from the two following a Cannner recovery of a fumble on the visitors' 18.

Warwick Aerial Clicks
Warwick struck back in the final minute after moving 85 yards, the scoring play coming on a 23-yard pass from Kopp to Male.

The final Jacoby touchdown came after 8:50 of the fourth quarter when Johnston whipped a 20-yard pass to the fleet back. Ronnie Wagner, Dennis Little and Hal Slusser put up fine defensive games for Biglerville.

Next Saturday night the once-beaten Cannners will go after their sixth straight when they host the Scotland Cadets.

MIAMI BEATS NAVY 23 TO 8 BEFORE 51,694

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The University of Miami Hurricanes are on the way back to the top ranks in college football. Victorious in only two of 10 games in 1958, the Hurricanes made it 3 out of 4 for 1959 by walloping Navy 23-8 before 51,694 in the Orange Bowl Friday night. It was the third straight setback for Navy, the first time that has happened to the Middies since 1951.

Utah whipped Denver 26-12 in Friday night's other major game. St. Ambrose nipped Drake 23-22. St. Vincent (Pa.) beat Wayne State 6-0; Ohio Univ. took Youngstown 44-12 and Springfield drubbed Brandeis 43-12.

Louisiana State opens defense of its Southeastern Conference title tonight against Kentucky and for the next six weeks the Bengals from the Bayou play league foes.

This conference is one of the toughest in the country and the motto of the members is: "We fear no one."

Kentucky Is Weak
But none of them will relish meeting LSU, No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll. Kentucky is one of the weaker conference outfits and should not pose any great problem to Coach Paul Dietzel's club.

While LSU is flexing its muscles the Southwest Conference title could be practically decided in another night game when unbeaten Texas takes on unbeaten Arkansas.

The top afternoon game pitted Northwestern and Purdue, Iowa will be in a good position to take its second straight league title. The Hawkeyes, ranked No. 9 in the nation, tackle Wisconsin and must win to stay in the race.

In the Big Eight, Oklahoma still is favored to win its 12th consecutive league championship, but the other teams are not quite so fearful of the Sooners as in past years.

Four other games scattered around the country pit undefeated teams against each other. On the West Coast, it was Southern California at Washington and the Air Force Academy at Oregon. On the East Coast, it was Holy Cross at Syracuse and Yale at Cornell.

The television game of the day (NBC-TV, 1:30 p.m. EST) paired Notre Dame and Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich.

CAGE SEASON OPENS TONIGHT

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, boasting more strength at forward and better shooting from Bill Russell, open defense of their National Basketball Assn. championship today against the revamped Cincinnati Royals.

The earliest tap-off in the 14-year history of the NBA will be televised nationally from the Boston arena (5 p.m., EDT) with the local area blacked out.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 center whose defensive and rebounding skills will be challenged by the most notable rookie in the circuit — Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain, demonstrated improved scoring ability as the Celtics posted a 13-1 preseason exhibition record.

Stronger In Corners
Big Bill, who used to hit from no farther away than 10 feet, has developed accuracy from the corners.

"I think Gene Conley will be better, due to a year of experience," says Celtics Coach Red Auerbach. "And the Jones boys, Sam and K.C., are better ball players."

"We were weak in the corners most of last season. Now I think rookies John Richter and Gene Guarilia, and even Conley, will strengthen us there. Guys like Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman are as good as they ever were."

Today's game will be followed by a televised meeting between Detroit and Minneapolis Sunday.

Next Saturday all teams will be in action.

Bolts Hit Quickly For 3 Scores In 6:15 And Lace Kennard-Dale 26-0

Littlestown's Tunderbolts struck with lightning rapidity Friday night to tally three touchdowns in the opening period and then went on to a 26-0 victory over Kennard-Dale at Littlestown to clinch at least a tie for first place in the Laurel Conference.

Wayne Garrett, Bolt back, took the opening kickoff on his 25 yard line and raced 54 yards before being hauled down on the Rams' 21. On the next play Darryl Bollinger, 195, swept his left side, brushed off several would-be tacklers and streaked over. Dave Crouse added the points on a place and the Bolts led 7-0 with less than a minute of play gone.

Appler Blocks Punt
Four plays later the Bolts tallied again. Crouse's kickoff went into the end zone. Kennard-Dale took possession on the 20 and two plays netted but two yards against the tough Littlestown line. On the following play Ken Heibeck punted but Gene Appler, tackle, broke through to block the kick and recovered in the end zone. Crouse's kick for the point was wide.

The Rams returned the ensuing kickoff for their 34 and lost 10 yards on three tries. Heibeck's punt went to the K-D 48 from where Littlestown launched another scoring drive.

Garrett blasted through tackle for 16 yards. Earl Markle then swept end for an apparent score but a clipping penalty set Littlestown back to the 24. However, Wib Gobrecht's team was not to be denied. Bollinger took the ball on the next play, shot off right tackle and shook off several tacklers to go all the way. Again Crouse missed on his kick for the point. All of the scoring came within 6:15 minutes of play.

Coach Gobrecht substituted freely in the second period and the Rams twice penetrated Littlestown territory, reaching the 33 as the half ended.

50-Yd. Aerial Play
A 50-yard pass play with 4:45 remaining in the third period gave Littlestown its final score. Bollinger fired a 15-yard aerial to Crouse who streaked the final 35 yards. Crouse converted to make the score 26-0.

In the last period Kennard-Dale drove from its own 20 to the Littlestown 33 before the Bolt regulars went in to stop the drive. Bollinger intercepting a pass to wipe out the Rams hopes for a score.

Next Saturday Littlestown plays at Susquehannock and a win in that contest will enable the Bolts to repeat as conference champs.

Friday's triumph was the fifth in a row for Littlestown, the last three by shutouts. The Bolts have

The Mt. St. Mary's College soccer teams won its second victory in five games by topping Loyola 3-1 Friday afternoon at Emmitsburg. Loyola is 0-2-1.

Next Monday Roanoke will meet the Mount at Emmitsburg.

Sweet Potatoes Should Be Well Cured Before Storing

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Sweet potatoes should be well cured before they're stored. Every year many gardeners are disappointed with their results in storing sweet potatoes because they try to handle them like other root crops. Sweet potatoes are a warm season crop and need different care than Irish potatoes, turnips and similar root crops.

To cure sweet potatoes place harvested roots in a well ventilated place with the temperature at 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit for 10 to 15 days. After curing, FRANK S. ZETTLE stores sweet potatoes at about 50 degrees. Temperatures below 50 will usually cause decay.

A typical storage place in homes is a dry basement near the furnace or an attic near a chimney. The moving or handling the potatoes again until they are used or sold is not advisable.

Remove all cut and damaged roots before potatoes are stored.

Cattle Need Grain Feeding
Feeding relatively large amounts of grain immediately before or after freshening will not increase the incidence or severity of udder congestion in dairy cows. This has been clearly demonstrated in studies at the New York and Illinois Agricultural Experiment Stations.

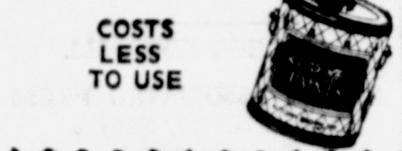

Some dairymen have discontinued or drastically reduced grain feeding to prevent congested or swollen udders. Such a practice should be discarded as the cow's needs for nutrients are great immediately before and after calving.

Most cows should be fed eight to 12 pounds of grain daily for at least one week before and following freshening. Increase the amount of grain fed by about one pound daily until her peak production needs are met.

Low Protein Levels
Studies show low blood protein levels are associated with udder edema or congestion. Heifers often have lower blood protein values than older cows at freshening. Thus they are more susceptible to udder congestion and swelling may occur underneath the abdomen as well.

The swelling noted in some strains of heifers and certain older cows results from an accumulation of lymph or fluid which has escaped from the blood stream. Except for possibly weakening udder attachments in some animals, udder congestion usually has little or no adverse effects on cattle.

Udder edema may be relieved to some degree by certain diuretic drugs which can be administered by a veterinarian. Preliminary research at Illinois also indicated that feeding soybean oil meal daily for six weeks prior to calving may reduce the severity of udder congestion in susceptible animals.

Killing Frosts
Killing frosts in Pennsylvania in the past two weeks have damaged standing sorghum and sudan grass crops.

Where frost damages growing sudan grass or green sorghums, deadly quantities of hydrocyanic or prussic acid are found in the injured plants. A few mouthfuls of frosted sudan grass or sorghums can kill cows. Young or second growth sudan grass is extremely dangerous. Emergency veterinary treatment is possible when cattle break into poisonous pasture, but it must be remembered that animals die in a very short time from prussic acid poisoning. Early treatment is most important.

After the plants become completely dry they may be safe for forage, but it is usually better to keep livestock out of such pasture after the first frost. Damaged sorghums or sudan grass can be safely used for silage, but one important precaution: Do not use bisulfite or any other chemical preservative for this material. Fermentation is necessary to destroy the poisons found in the ensiled material. After a fermentation period of at least one month, the damaged material is safe and nutritious livestock feed.

Farm Calendar

Protect Livestock — Keep livestock out of fields of frosted sudan grass or sorghum, urges Dr. Samuel Guss, Penn State extension veterinarian. When these plants are frosted, deadly acids are formed. Just a few mouthfuls of this frosted forage can kill cows. In case of poisoning, early treatment is imperative.

Census Is Valuable — The 1959 Census of Agriculture will get underway in Pennsylvania November 11. The information will provide an up-to-date guide for future farm operators. Questionnaires will be sent through the mail to farm operators and a few days later a census taker will call for the answers.

Brood Fall Chicks — It is good business to brood chicks in the fall, Carl Dossin, Penn State extension poultry specialist, believes. He says the spread between medium and large egg prices in the spring may be as little as five cents, while in the fall it may be 15 to 20 cents a dozen. The price favors the fall-hatched pullet

37 FLEE FROM BURNING HOTEL

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—Thirty-seven guests escaped uninjured Friday night when a fire described as the worst in this borough in nine years swept through the Huntingdon Hotel.

Damage from the blaze was tentatively estimated at $100,000. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Officials said most of the top floor of the four-story building was consumed by the flames and the rest of the building was severely damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The officials said most of the guests—including Judge Harry M. Montgomery, Democratic candidate for Superior Court—were out of the hotel when the fire broke out.

The flames were spotted shortly after 9 o'clock by Mrs. Robert McCamant who lives near the hotel. Firemen from Huntingdon and surrounding communities brought the blaze under control near midnight.

The worst previous fire, the officials said, was a $150,000 super-market fire in January of 1950.

Abbottstown

ABBOTTSTOWN — Mrs. Mabel Moul, Pine Run, will discontinue housekeeping and reside with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Rudisill, New Oxford. Mrs. Moul will hold a public sale at her home, about two and a half miles north of Abbottstown, of household and farming equipment, Saturday, November 7.

Prof. C. Groves Haines, Bologna, Italy, arrived in Washington, D. C. Monday, where he will join his wife and daughter, who spent the summer with his mother, Mrs. Helen Haines.

Feed Silage Early — Thin feeder cattle make the best use of silage during the first half of the feeding period, says Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist. After that, he recommends, gradually decrease the silage and increase the grain.

May Need Potash — Research at the Pennsylvania State University has shown that a properly placed starter fertilizer for corn should contain potassium. Some soils need this element.

Plant Spring Bulbs — Plant spring-flowering bulbs now, reminds Mrs. Lynn Smith, Penn State extension floriculturist. Early planting insures a good root system and bigger and better flowers.

Here's How — Fall Is Here — Time To Get Down To Business

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Fall is the time to face realities about your home. If boredom has set in. The man of the house should have given up the idea of buying a barn and turning it into a ranch house, and the cooperative lady of the house should have revised her ideas about turning a ranch house into a barn.

Summer in its bucolic loveliness does strange things to the sanest homemakers.

Instead of seeking the rainbow in rural pastoral scenes, it's a good time to improve that place where you hang your Home Sweet Home sign, a place that was probably chosen for practical reasons, with or without woods, fields, lawns or groves.

A house may be refurbished in many ways to add zest to a dwelling.

A new entrance can live up a dreary or badly planned spot.

An unusual window can change a facade from a leering pumpkin face of windows to an enchanted cottage approach.

Ornamental iron, one of the traditional marks of luxurious homes in the South, is now available in standardized sizes with all the beauty of the costly made-to-order ironwork from old plantations. These may be installed easily by the home handyman because designs come in com-

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the basic issue in the next 25 years is world peace.

Arriving Thursday night for a 10-day vacation, Nixon told newsmen that world peace in the next 25 years hinges on Soviet willingness to play the rules of international competition.

VENICE, Fla. (AP)—The menacing Red Tide has left its mark of dead fish on beaches here and biologists predict more will wash ashore.

Thick patches of rotting fish along a 25-mile front brought stinging fumes to this area Thursday. Red Tide is a marine micro-organism that turns the water a rust color and is fatal to fish under certain weather conditions.

MOTHER OF 3 NOT GUILTY OF TWO HOLDUPS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "We got home, woke the babies up and looked at them."

A joyful Mrs. Charles Anderson said that was how she celebrated her acquittal on charges of armed robbery.

The attractive blonde, a 30-year-old mother of three, was acquitted Friday night after a Federal Court jury deliberated one hour and 50 minutes.

"We haven't had a chance to look at the children for more than a few minutes all this week," she said. "Looking at them now will be my celebration."

Mrs. Anderson said she and her husband spent Thursday night at a hotel because she couldn't bear to tell the children goodbye.

Asked about future plans, she answered:

Will Write 'Jurons'
"Stay at home and be quiet. I'm going to try to be me for a few days."

She said the jurors "were wonderful," and added: "I intend to write each of them and thank them but first I have to settle down."

The verdict tore away the composure she maintained through the five-day trial.

Tears streaming down her face, she stood up, turned to her husband and said: "Let's call Damon so we can go home."

Damon, 9, is the oldest of her three children.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of an insurance executive, was charged with the daring noon-hour holdups of two suburban savings and loan offices last year.

Looted Of $8,000

The first office was robbed of $6,663, the second of $1,311 three months later.

Mrs. Anderson was arrested at her suburban home May 29, 1958—one week after the second hold-up. Conviction on both counts would have brought sentences of 30 years in prison and fines up to $20,000.

The government contended she needed the money to make up a shortage at an insurance company in Atlanta where she formerly worked.

She said she made up the shortage five days after the first robbery—with $1,689 her father had saved for her.

SPEED TRIAL OF THREE FOR FATAL BEATING

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A Saturday session was called today to speed up the murder trial of three Cambria County men charged with fatally beating James L. Lau, 34, of York.

The prosecution called six witnesses Friday, including two during a night session. All had talked to Lau between the time he was found badly beaten and the time of his death about 24 hours later.

Judge John M. Klepser, however, sustained a defense motion and ruled out any testimony about what Lau told the witnesses before he died. The defense argued that such testimony would be hearsay.

Two Brothers Involved
Defendants in the trial are Frederick Gorba, 32; his brother, James R. 24; and Andrew Ligda, 22, all of Portage R. 1.

All of the witnesses testified that Lau was wearing feminine clothing and had been wearing such close during all of a five-day stay in Altoona.

Among the witnesses called were Atty. Mirle K. Every, who found Lau lying along Grankstown Road near Hollidaysburg; Dr. Robert Batsler, who gave medical treatment to Lau, and the Rev. C. J. Fox, to whom Lau talked after being treated.

The Rev. Mr. Fox is pastor of the First Evangelical Brethren Church of Altoona.

September, October and November are traditionally "Community Chest Time" in the U. S. During these three months this fall, over 2,100 Community Chest campaigns will be conducted to raise funds for health, welfare and recreation agencies.

CANONIZATION PROCESS IS A LENGTHY ONE

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, who took another step toward canonization last week, is still a long way from becoming one of the many thousands of saints of the Roman Catholic calendar.

The announcement by Pope John XXIII that the American-born nun has "passed the antepreliminary stage" means she is somewhere in the middle of the canonization process, with the highest hurdles ahead.

The Catholic Church doesn't take sainthood lightly.

Died In 1821
Mother Seton, who could become the first native American saint, died in 1821, but canonization proceedings did not get under way on the lowest official level (the Baltimore diocese) until 86 years had passed.

Four years later, the documents painstakingly collected and examined in Baltimore were forwarded to Rome to a "postulator," a sort of clerical attorney who would plead her case before the Congregation of Rites.

Further examination by a commission in Rome, delayed by World War I, lasted another 29 years. It was not until 1940 that her cause was formally introduced and she was being considered for beatification.

Spokesman Uncertain
Catholic spokesmen in the United States are not sure exactly how far along the road toward beatification—the last step before canonization—Mother Seton has passed.

Apparently these three points have met approval: She has a reputation for sanctity; she has not been venerated publicly; and her writings, even personal letters, express the saintly ideals.

She can be pronounced beatified—and bear the title "blessed"—only after the church has satisfied itself that two miracles can be attributed to her intercession.

Time Required
Church spokesmen say it is unlikely that beatification can be considered and approved until 1960 or even much later.

Canonization, the final step to sainthood, is achieved only after the church proves to itself that her intercession has brought about

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

In a four-acre garden at Cullman, Ala., visitors of all faiths walk the flower-bordered paths to look in reverence at the miniature shrines that fill the Ave Maria Grotto.

But they probably will never see their dedicated creator, a shy little man now 80 years old, who through the years built not one, but many monuments to his faith.

The builder is "Brother Joe," who dreamed of becoming a priest when he came to America from Bavaria at the age of 13. Lacking educational qualifications, he instead became a brother in the Benedictine Order, and worker in the boiler room of the monastery at St. Bernard Abbey. The shrines were his after-hour pleasure, which now delight more than a million visitors every year.

There are more than 150 replicas of shrines in the Grotto, ranging from the Alamo in Texas to St. Peter's in Rome. There is a miniature of the Benedictine Monastery in "Corea," which was destroyed by the communists. This is dedicated to the boys of St. Bernard College who died in the Korean War. His most recent work is "The Basilica of Lourdes," which was built by him last year to commemorate the 100th anniversary of this miracle.

A former student at St. Bernard's told me, "Brother Joe has been an inspiration to every boy who attended the college . . . and still is. His Grotto is a sermon in stone for men of all faiths." When complimented by those who knew him, Brother Joseph only smiles and walks away.

two more miracles since her beatification.

This final step can take years or even decades.

Progress Noted

Thus, the church's investigations of sainthood have come a long way since the informalities of the 13th century, when St. Peter of Castelnau could be canonized less than two months after his death.

The elevation to sainthood of Pope Pius X in 1954 required an examination period of 30 years, a mere drop in the bucket of time as the canonization process goes.

YWCA's in more than 1,600 communities in the United States, including Gettysburg, and in the 69 other countries where there is association work will observe World Fellowship Week, November 8 to 14.

In Gettysburg as well as internationally, the week will be a time for commemorating the worldwide work of the YWCA in behalf of girls and young women. The local celebration will open with a bus trip to the World Fellowship service in the Washington, D. C., Cathedral. Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, a Methodist layman and former president of Ohio Wesleyan University, will be the speaker. His address will be based on the theme of this year's World Fellowship observance, "Make Known His Deeds."

All YWCA members are invited to attend this service. The transportation cost is $3.25 per person. Reservations will be taken up to Saturday, October 31. Only paid reservations, mailed or personally remitted, will be accepted and will give assurance of a bus seat. The local delegation will be among the more than 2,000 YWCA representatives from across the country and from countries overseas at the service. Special guests will be members of the diplomatic corps, Congress and other branches of the federal government.

As a highlight of the national and international observance, Y. Teens, the 12- to 17-year-old members of the YWCA, representing each state of the union, will participate in a gift-bringing ceremony at the Washington Cathedral. The gifts will include contributions of YWCA members in the United States to strengthen world fellowship and to aid the YWCA's work in countries overseas.

Work Fellowship Week is a special time for prayers for peace and rededication to the Christian purpose of the YWCA.

SPECIAL RULE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois State Fair has one special harness racing rule — no teeing off steam whistles during the races.

Fanciers of oldtime steam-driven threshing machines display their collections at the annual fair. They are allowed to toot the steam whistles any time except during the harness race programs.

Racing officials say the steam whistles are so piercing they fear the blasts might frighten the pacing and trotting horses, causing the racers to break stride.

FINDERS KEEPERS

HEAVENER, Okla. (AP) — Al Freeman lost a big bass, along with his fancy lure, in a nearby river. Two days later fisherman Ples Pilkington was at the same spot and hooked the same fish — lure included.

LEGISLATION EYES DELAY OF AID BILL

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—If you're interested in the problem of increasing state aid to schools, keep your eye on the Nov. 3 election.

The ballot lists a proposed constitutional amendment to allow the Legislature to meet annually instead of once every two years. If it passes, the lawmakers would come back here next January.

And there's growing sentiment among the legislators that perhaps next year is a better time to tackle the vexing issue of school subsidies than in the current session.

One Advantage

For one thing, the subsidies can be made retroactive to apply to the current school year which doesn't end until June 30.

But even more important, from a political standpoint, may of the lawmakers feel they have reached the saturation point on taxes that can be enacted in this session.

A breathing spell until next year, these lawmakers say privately, could result in a more comprehensive school aid program instead of what Speaker H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria) terms sewing a patch on top of a patch.

Tax Question

Chairman J. Dean Polen (D-Washington) of the House Appropriations Committee says House thinking precludes any more taxes in the current session.

There will be some political jockeying.

Polen's committee is expected to scale down the school aid bill to 55 million dollars and then point to the 55-million-dollar proposed tax on ownership of stocks and bonds as a way to finance it.

But Senate Republicans already have buried this House-passed six-million levy in the deepest pigeonhole of the Senate Finance Committee.

Cut Doubtful

And an idea, offered by House Republicans, to cut all state appropriations by 2 per cent across the board to raise 30 million for school subsidies also is given little chance of acceptance by the Lawrence administration.

There's no chance either that the 200 million dollars in increased state aid for schools asked by organized teachers and school directors will pass the 1959 Legislature.

It's curious that Gov. Lawrence has taken a hands-off attitude on school subsidies.

He says he will sign an increase if he receives a tax bill to finance it. But that tax bill, he says, would be vetoed if it extended the 4 per cent sales tax to clothing as proposed in some Senate GOP quarters.

Budget Provision

One seldom-mentioned fact in all the furor on school subsidies is that the Lawrence budget provides an additional 64 million dollars for schools under laws enacted by other legislatures.

It won't help school districts to any appreciable degree because their costs will go up by that much because of the same laws.

BELOW NORMAL WEATHER DUE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather bureau said today its 30-day outlook for mid-October to mid-November calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the Continental Divide eastward to the Appalachians, except for near normal along the Gulf Coast.

The bureau added:

"Greatest unseasonal departures are expected in the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and adjacent states. Above normal averages are predicted for central and southern West Coast states. Near normal values are in prospect for much of the Intermountain Plateau and also for the region east of the Appalachians. "Precipitation is expected to exceed normal along the Gulf Coast and east of the Appalachians as well as in areas just east of the Continental Divide. Subnormal amounts are anticipated west of the Divide and also in the middle Mississippi Valley. In unspecified areas about normal precipitation is indicated."

Of the 2,100 Community Chest campaigns in the U. S., there are 1,217 of them which include state and national agencies. There are 1,261 Red Cross chapters which take part in the united campaigns.

- 2 He carries beautiful artists drawings of a partially developed park plan cemetery.
- 3 He will ask you to buy a lot in this cemetery, sight unseen.
- 4 He will pressure you to buy at once . . . may even offer you a "bargain" price to do so.
- 5 He will admit—if you ask him—that the cemetery is not completely constructed. He will not be able to tell you when it will be completed.
- 6 He will admit—if you ask him—that once you buy, you will be FORBIDDEN to express your sentiment in the traditional American way —with a monument of marble or granite.

IF YOU RECOGNIZE THIS MAN AT YOUR DOOR, INVESTIGATE BEFORE YOU BUY. Compare the facilities offered by Louisville's already established cemeteries. Consult with those who know . . . a reputable funeral director or monument builder, the officials of an established cemetery, your lawyer, or the trust officer of any bank. Selection of your family cemetery lot and monument is a serious and important family decision. Don't be high-pressured into it. Think it through before you buy.

BUILDING MONUMENTS in ADAMS COUNTY for 31 YEARS

Whether Your Son Wants To Become A—

lawyer...

merchant...

he'll have to learn how to meet and talk to people easily and courteously —
if he is to be successful.

One of the surest ways for a youngster to acquire that ability is through newspaper route management.

When he starts out, a youngster is usually bashful. His adult contacts up to this time have been largely confined to his family and the corner grocer . . . and he knows little if anything about salesmanship.

He begins his route experience by delivering papers. Then he starts to collect for them. Here he learns how easy it is to get along with adults . . . if he has given them good service.

And, with coaching from men who are interested in boys and trained to help them, he learns to sell . . . himself and his newspaper.

Sometimes, a remarkable change occurs in a few weeks. Usually, it takes longer. But invariably, if his parents encourage him to stick to his newspaper route long enough, a big improvement occurs in a boy's ability to meet and talk to people.

Thus, newspaper route experience helps him develop one of the basic requirements of future success.

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by Newspaper experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

BIG FISH HAS POSED BIGGER TAX PROBLEM

BALTIMORE (AP)—When Bill Simmons pulled in a fish worth $25,000 over a year ago, he dreamed of putting it up as a showpiece and the money in his pocket.

He still has Diamond Jim III mounted on the wall of his home, but he's trying to reel in $6,230 that slipped away.

The 31-year-old former longshoreman, who was jobless at the time, has put his lawyer to work to try to get it back from government tax collectors.

The Big Question

The question is: Was he trying to produce income or was he simply fishing for recreation?

Simmons caught the 10-pound rockfish under the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Aug. 6, 1958. A local brewery had tagged the fish and released it earlier in the year, offering $25,000 to the lucky fisherman who landed it.

When Simmons began spending the money, the Internal Revenue Service seized $6,230 last Oct. 29 to be sure of getting a share before income tax filing time.

Through his attorney, Sheldon Briartman, Simmons argues that he was not looking for Diamond Jim III. He was just out for a good time and did not work for the $25,000. It therefore was windfall and not taxable, he contends.

World Briefs

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Veteran Irish actor Barry Fitzgerald, 71, was reported by his doctor to be out of danger Friday after a brain operation.

"There is no danger," said Dr.

Internal revenue officials have not bitten on that one so far.

Briartman tossed out another line. He reasoned that if going after a tagged fish is a business enterprise, every sportsman on the bay could say he is looking for Diamond Jim's annual successors.

So, they could deduct the expense of fishing trips in figuring income tax. And that, of course, could cost the government a lot more than $6,230 in revenue.

D. K. O'Donovan. "He is doing as well as can be expected," Fitzgerald, now retired, underwent an exploratory operation Thursday for a suspected brain tumor at a Dublin hospital.

PARIS (AP)—Former Justice Minister Francois Mitterrand escaped an assassin Friday as he fled across a park from a hail of bullets.

Mitterrand, 43, belongs to the small group of non-Communist leftists who are outspokenly opposed to President Charles de Gaulle and also strongly critical of the right-wing colonialists in Algeria.

The would-be assassin escaped. TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito's youngest daughter, Princess Suga, will marry a 50-a-month bank clerk next March 10. Hirohito will set a precedent and attend marriages of anyone below his rank.

The 20-year-old princess is marrying Hisanaga Shimazu, 25, a descendant of a feudal lord.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Heavy casualties were reported Friday in continuing fighting between warriors of two tribes around Lulubourg, a key town in the southern Belgian Congo.

More than 20 Africans have been killed, several hundred wounded and about 1,000 huts destroyed in clashes between Lulua and Baluba tribesmen.

LONDON (AP)—Conductor Otto Kemperer, 74, was ill Friday with a minor heart complaint. He canceled engagements for two appearances with the Philharmonia Orchestra at London's Festival Hall next week. A spokesman for the orchestra said Kemperer is suffering from pericarditis, inflammation of the membrane surrounding the heart.

LONDON (AP)—Hugh Gaitskell, leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition, had to take a taxi to the House of Commons Friday. His own car had been towed away by police. The offense: Parking in a no parking area.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bing Crosby is fond of pound cake, his mother-in-law confides. So Mrs. D.E. Grandstaff had her sister Frances Sullivan bake one, and they carried it aboard an airliner which took them to Los Angeles Thursday.

Crosby's infant daughter, Mary Frances, was to be christened there today.

Mrs. Grandstaff is the mother of Bing's wife, actress Kathy Grant.

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—Historic Harpers Ferry today marked the 100th anniversary of John Brown's attack on the federal arsenal.

Brown, violent foe of slavery, led 18 men in a Sabbath night attack which he hoped would rally Negroes to rebel against their masters.

vigorous fight against slavery helped fire emotions that led to the Civil War.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fumes from a defective flue caused panic Thursday night among residents of a West Side tenement building. Nine persons were hospitalized but none was in serious condition today.

Officials said the fumes came from a flue leading from a hot water boiler in the five-story building's basement.

Community Chests in Pennsylvania raised $24,131,000 in 1951 and by 1955 this increased to $31,179,000, because of the number of health and welfare agencies which continued to join the drives. Last fall the Chest campaigns raised over $39 million.
